PREAMBLE

Whereas the Constitution of the Federal Republic provides for freedom of association and the electoral Act provides for multi-party democracy in Nigeria.

Whereas there are more than forty (40) registered political parties with their manifesto, constitution, logo and symbols in Nigeria.

And whereas historically from the first republic till now, there have been continuous attempt by the various political parties to merge for purposes of elections. These attempt have been partially unsuccessful due to unsustainable framework.

Giving by the last attempt by legacy parties yielded result of being the first time opposition party defeated the incumbent. Which was novel and commendable. Learning from the experience of the merger of the four legacy parties, it becomes necessary to have more permanent enduring frame work for such alliances and merger.

And whereas C4C was borne out of the need to have this sustained frame work for like minds political parties to have a coalition seamless of the usual problems associated with such mergers in the past.

C4C serves as a political catalyst that hastens the rate of political union but remains the same at the end of the union.

Therefore change is constant in every human society. There is a saying that Change does not Change.

There must always be a great need for a coalition of like minds to effect the needed changes in the polity.

Now therefore, we members of the coalition for change do hereby enact and give to ourselves the following constitution.
