

INEC SET FOR NOV. 6 ANAMBRA POLL.

If there were doubts regarding the Conduct of the Anambra Governorship election scheduled for November 6, 2021, due to genuine concerns raised over the security situation in Anambra and surrounding states, such fears should have been allayed by the level of preparedness by the Independent National Electoral Commission (INEC) and the assurances of adequate security by security agencies.

In an emergency meeting of the Inter-Agency Consultative Committee on Election Security (ICCES) held on Monday, 25th October, the INEC Chairman, Prof. Mahmood Yakubu and Co-Chairman of ICCES, declared that the Commission was determined to proceed with the governorship election as scheduled.

The determination to proceed as planned, according to the INEC Chairman was hinged on the assurances from the security agencies of a secure electoral space for the election. He further explained that the Commission was impressed with the level of co-operation and support it has so far enjoyed from religious, traditional and community leaders for peaceful elections.

The National Security Adviser and Co-Chairman of ICCES, Major General Babagana Monguno (Rtd) warned persons that may intend to disrupt the peaceful conduct of the election to desist or be ready to face the full wrath of the law.

As a confidence booster to the Anambra electorate, General Monguno said "I want to reassure the general public that the security agencies are going to do everything within their power to ensure that the people of Anambra State undergo this exercise without any incident."

Turning to the security agencies, the NSA warned that "any rogue element that decides to behave in a manner that will tie our collective institutions in a dark colour will be brought to justice in accordance with the rules of those institutions."

Beyond assurances that the electoral space in Anambra will be secured and safe for election, the Commission has successfully accomplished 12 out of the 14 activities listed in the Timetable and Schedule of Activities for the election released in January this year. The two outstanding activities are the last day of campaign, at midnight on Thursday 4th November, 2021 and Election Day which remains Saturday, 6th November 2021.

Also, the Commission has concluded arrangement for the distribution of 81,778 newly printed Permanent Voter Cards (PVCs) belonging to New Registrants, those who requested for transfers, those who sought to update their voter information and citizens who applied for replacement of lost or damaged cards in Anambra state, ahead of the election on November 6.

of the names and particulars of nominated Party Agents elapsed on 21st of October. As a technology driven Commission, a dedicated portal was created for parties to upload the names and other details of their polling agents at all levels and such submissions have been uploaded on the Commission's websites and social media platforms for public information.

Presiding Officers and their assistants on the Bimodal Voter Accreditation System (BVAS) to be used for the election concluded or at the final stages in Anambra State by The Electoral Institute, as well as other preparatory activities being executed successfully with the full co-operation of all stakeholders in the state, it is expected that the November 6, 2021 election will meet the aspirations and yearnings of the Anambra people, and indeed the entire nation, Nigeria.
